Smashing Offensive Is Progressing Along 750-Mile Sea And Jungle Front

U. S. AIRMEN HOLD AIR SUPERIORITY

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, in Australia, July 3.—On the eve of the traditional patriotic Independence Day celebration, American forces in the southwest Pacific were ploughing forward in a smashing offensive tonight, moving ahead along a 750-mile sea and jungle front.

With United States airmen clinging tenaciously to their superiority in the skies and with the American fleet maintaining complete control of the South Pacific seas, operations tonight were moving as well as—if not immeasurably better than—originally anticipated.

Optimistic Predictions
Optimistic predictions from well-informed American sources that the drive now seems destined for success at a price far less than could have been hoped for originally were made as late reports from the fighting fronts rolled in. But these spokesmen warned against anticipating an early and conclusive decision in the battle for Munda and all of New Georgia Island.

The total strength of the enemy garrison on New Georgia was estimated today at several thousand men and it is expected now that full-scale operations easily as im-

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle and Lawrence county folks apparently are largely going to follow the exhortation to spend Fourth of July holidays at home. There will be no chance to go anywhere via auto, and trains and busses will probably be crowded to the limit.

No special programs of any kind have been arranged locally for observance of the Fourth, either in New Castle or the county.

Some of the victory gardeners around the city have developed some ambitious scarecrow dummies to keep the crows and other birds away from the corn fields, Pa New observes.

Sale and use of fireworks are prohibited in Pennsylvania and this Fourth season has been lacking in the one-time pre-Fourth noise. In some years the boom of firecrackers was evident for a couple of weeks prior to the Fourth.

Three local youths are getting ready to make an extended bicycle trip, starting on Tuesday of next week. They are Edgar Marsh, Ralph Dorris, and Claire Dorley. They expect to peddle their way to State College and return.

Gasoline must be plentiful in Ohio, Pa New saw a couple of Ohio cars in the city today that were carrying three gas coupon markers A B and C.

This morning, at Jackson Park, East Washington street, a pink rambler rose bush was blooming beautifully, and was very noticeable in the middle of the park, and surrounds a post atop which is a bird house. The benches in this park are well patronized, especially by persons who have climbed the long hill, stopping for rest and a breathing spell.

Compromise On Subsidy Plan Sought

President's Veto Of Anti-Subsidy Bill Is Sustained By House

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—A bipartisan congressional group today sought a compromise with the Roosevelt administration on the question of food subsidies in the wake of house action sustaining the president's veto of the Commodity Credit Corporation bill which would have banned the subsidy program.

Spokesmen for the group declared that chaos is a possibility if President Roosevelt, his advisers and congress continue at loggerheads on the question of stabilizing prices and wages to prevent inflation.

Mr. Roosevelt himself, in his veto message in which he pledged his best efforts to prevent inflation, invited cooperation on the subject.

Assail Veto
Rebellious "farm bloc" leaders, however, assailed the presidential veto of the CCC bill with its subsidy ban and indicated that they would fight compromise proposals and take their case to the country.

A movement was launched in the senate for substitution of the Taft compromise on the subsidy issue. Democratic leaders, it was learned,

U-BOATS FAIL TO HAMPER CONVOY

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 3.—Complete shore-to-shore air cover provided by carrier-borne planes working in cooperation with land-based aircraft, recently assured passage of another valuable convoy across the Atlantic without U-boat interference, a joint British admiralty and air ministry communique revealed today.

The U-boats attacked the convoy for more than two days, the statement said, but one submarine was destroyed, another probably sunk and others may have been damaged.

U. S. Bombers In Two-Pronged Assault On Lecce And Grottaglie

TWELVE ENEMY PLANES SHOT DOWN

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, in North Africa, July 3.—Liberator bombers of the United States Ninth Air Force executed a two-pronged assault on the Axis airfields at Lecce and Grottaglie, on the heel of the Italian mainland, and shot down 12 out of a force of 40 enemy fighters which gave combat, an official communique announced today.

The Liberators, striking from bases in the Middle East, hammered the runways, hangars and dispersal areas at Lecce and Grottaglie while other Allied bombers from North Africa pounded objectives on the islands of Sicily and Sardinia.

Hangars-Runways Hit
The heavy U. S. bombers blasted Lecce and Grottaglie in daylight yesterday, the official announcement from headquarters in Cairo said.

At Lecce hits were seen on hangars and runways and fires were started behind the hangars and in the dispersal areas.

Nazi Propaganda Invasion Bubble Bursts Completely

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 3.—The Nazi invasion bubble tediously blown up by the German-controlled Paris radio all through the week with persistent reports that an Allied landing would be made on the continent today has burst.

The campaign by the Nazi propagandists to build up the invasion story was revealed as a hoax a few hours after the Paris station announced at midnight that the hour had struck and that the invasion could be expected momentarily. The announcer said that reporters had been dispatched to the coast to give an hourly account of developments. The periodic announcements came in the form of ridiculous wisecracks.

Shortly thereafter the British Broadcasting Company in its regular European service declared: "Today is the day Goebbels' (Nazi) (Continued On Page Two)

Three Weeks Of Bitter Fighting Seen At Munda

May Take That Period Of Time To Rid Munda Of Japs

MILITARY HISTORY MADE BY U. S. MOVE

(Editor's Note: Between 5,000 and 8,000 Japanese defenders of Munda airport on New Georgia Island remained to be overcome by United States invasion forces when the following dispatch was written aboard one of the naval vessels participating in seizure of Rendova.)

By JACK MAHON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH UNITED STATES INVASION FORCES OFF NEW GEORGIA, June 29.—(Delayed)—Three weeks of bitter, bloody fighting lie ahead before the Japanese are driven from their Munda base on the steaming island of New Georgia.

This was the consensus in well-informed military and naval circles today as thousands of fighting sons of Uncle Sam consolidated their positions on Rendova Island and massed in jungle battle dress and the world's finest equipment for the next big blow against Japan's defensive outposts.

Best available estimates say there are between 5,000 and 8,000 Japs at Munda.

No one in authority wants to commit himself on how long it will take to drive them out.

But there is every reason to believe that by means of combined thrusts by army and marine land forces and by our naval and air arms, New Georgia Island should be neutralized within a matter of three weeks.

Military history was made when Gen. Douglas MacArthur's army of liberation was loaded aboard transports.

Jack Payne Morgan Prisoner Of Japan

Parents Hear First Word 14 Months After Sons Listed As Missing

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Morgan of 710 Harbor street received a letter from the navy department, Washington, D. C., that their son, Jack Payne Morgan, aged 30 years, pharmacist's mate first class, is a prisoner of war of the Japanese government in the Philippine Islands.

The letter was sent by Randall Jacobs, rear admiral of the U. S. navy, chief of navy personnel. The navy department received an official cablegram from the International Red Cross from Tokyo, via Geneva, stating the news.

Pharmacist's Mate Morgan, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, probably served in Manila Bay, at the time of the fall of the Philippines. He has been in the service for 12 years, and for the past 14 months has been "missing in action". This is the first word received by the parents, elated to hear that their son is still living.

The Morgans also have a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Winters of Wellsville, O.

Jap Flotilla Is Driven Off By U. S. Warships

Three Jap Cruisers And Four Destroyers Routed In Rendova Attack Move

JAPS FORCED BACK "IN SHORT ORDER"

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The navy revealed today that blazing guns of American fleet units in a night battle routed a Japanese flotilla of seven warships attempting to shell U. S. invasion forces on Rendova Island in the Solomons.

An undisclosed number of American warships apparently laid a trap for the Japanese squadron of three cruisers and four destroyers which moved into the central Solomons the night of July 3 and drove them off "in short order."

"On July 3, during the night, a Japanese surface force consisting of three light cruisers and four destroyers attempted to shell U. S. positions on Rendova Island," the navy said.

"U. S. surface craft replied to the bombardment and the enemy ships retired in short order."

Details Meagre
The navy said that no further details have been received on the sea.

LANDING TOOK JAPS BY SURPRISE

NOUMEA, New Caledonia, July 3.—Fifteen months ago, I was chased out of the East by the Japanese. Today, I am on my way back, traveling with American forces in the South Pacific.

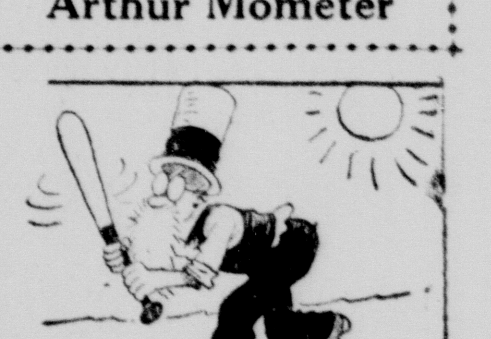

Only yesterday I returned from Munda, where once again I saw and admired Yankee audacity and courage in tackling and beating the Japanese at his own game. Rendova Island, where the American landing was made, is a mere seven and one-half miles from Munda.

In the black days of the battle for Guadalcanal the Japanese brought five or six transports, which set out for a point twelve miles from Henderson Field. They lost the lot and most of their equipment to our planes.

Surprised Japs
We, on the other hand, got every man, and every scrap of material ashore before the Japanese were able to make even the semblance of an attack, a torpedo-bomber assault.

You don't have to travel far, for staying at home isn't hard, you'll find much enjoyment at home, right there in your own back yard. A bat and a ball and some smokes, a hammock and maybe a book, a pitcher of water, (you want lemonade), a cushion in some shady nook. And just let the travel roll by, you're carefree, contented, at ease, your back yard's a place to explore, just lying there under the trees. It doesn't cost money or work, just picnic right there near your door. You'll get just as much fun and just as much fun, the weather is bright, eighty-four.

New Yorkers Jam Traffic

Fail To Heed Plea Of ODT To Remain Home Over Fourth

(International News Service)
Apparently ignoring the Office of Defense Transportation plea to stay at home this Independence Day week-end, New Yorkers continued today to jam outgoing bus and train terminals.
The mass exodus which began to swell three days ago had reached such proportions last night that coach travellers could buy only standing room to such distant points as Chicago and Milwaukee.
To counteract this drop in Manhattan's migratory population, night clubs and theatres reported an avalanche of reservations and hotels said they were long ago rented "to the roof."
At Grand Central Terminal, signs were posted at almost all gates warning of "standing room only" unless ticket holders had reservations.
At Pennsylvania station officials reported that congestion was increased because incoming traffic easily equaled out-going.
Although the OPA today posted 125 inspectors at bridges, tunnels, ferry slips and traffic arteries, it looked like people were determined to get someplace from where they started.
One situation that was cleared up was that of "mountain hacks" which haul vacation-bound passengers from New York City to upstate resorts. This type of conveyance, usually an oversized limousine or converted funeral coach, is exempt from federal regulations forbidding city cab drivers from going beyond city limits, the ODT said.
In eastern Pennsylvania, holiday travelers jammed buses, trains and ferries. They wanted certificates from physicians recommending a few days at the seashore for their "health." OPA agents reported stopping more than a thousand motorists on roads to pleasure resorts. The names of all physicians issuing certificates or letters will be turned over to the Philadelphia County Medical society, an OPA spokesman said.

AMERICAN FORCES PLOUGHING AHEAD ON PACIFIC FRONT

portant as Guadalcanal will be necessary before the Allies will control completely the strategically important island.
Meanwhile, in the area centering about the swampy marshland of Buna, flanked by Sago plantations, American and Australian crack troops clashed bitterly with the Japanese defenders of Salamaua. The most significant tactical news from that front was the uniting of an Australian bush force, which has been waging brilliant guerrilla warfare in the Mubo area for months, with American landing parties.

Welded Into Single Force

Thus the two forces were welded into a single, hard-striking offensive unit, equipped and trained for the highly-specialized warfare upon which it is engaged.
A spokesman for the Allied command stressed tonight that the main perimeter of Salamaua's defenses has not yet been tapped, although swift patrol forces have encircled the base on several occasions and even been in action on the trail linking that bastion with Lae farther up the coast.

From Nassau Bay to Mubo the Allied forces are holding to the initiative with the same perseverance being shown by their fellows in the New Guinea region.
Rabaul, most formidable of the Jap bases in the island, are north of Australia and apparent objective of the campaign combined forces of the southwest and south Pacific commands, was plastered with 33 tons of high explosive, fragmentation and incendiary bombs.

Feeble Jap Effort

The communique from headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur announcing that contact had been made between the interior units pressing from the interior toward the coast with American forces at Nassau Bay disclosed that the Japs made a feeble attempt to combat the Allied advance by sending in 10 planes to raid the area.
Overwhelming air superiority was maintained throughout by Allied warplanes which struck repeatedly at the Jap defenses in support of American and Australian troops battling Japanese ground forces.
Sharp clashes were taking place almost on the outskirts of Salamaua between Allied and Jap patrols in the Bobdidi area only five miles below Salamaua.

Previous Handicap

It was recalled that the biggest handicap in the Buna campaign was the lack of artillery once the Americans and Australians cut so close to the enemy's lines that bombardment by air was no longer practical. Apparently taking a lesson from this campaign, the strategists have provided the doughboys which can give them adequate cover as they hurl themselves against the foe's positions.

The decisive smashing of the Japanese sky flotilla over Rendova Island re-emphasized what has been apparent to observers here from the opening of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Pacific offensive—that the Allies are not only determined to maintain, but already strikingly possess aerial superiority.
Official quarters estimated that more than one-third of the foe's air reserves in the western Pacific were destroyed by the American blitz this week, with scores more being probably destroyed in the series of blistering attacks directed by Lieut.-Gen. George C. Kenney, air commander in this theater, against the big enemy base at Rabaul.

On the basis of past attacks, it seems reasonable to assume that the Japanese have taken a terrific beating from the American aerial war of attrition. In one single day, light bombing raid recently by a B-17 Boeing flying fortress, 13 enemy fighters were destroyed or badly damaged—and the size of the after-dark heavy bombardment formations thrown against Rabaul have been increased to substantial size to screen both the New Guinea and New Georgia thrusts.

battle, the first of any importance in several months in the South Pacific.
Ever since American forces launched their invasion of the central Solomons, navy men have been anticipating a counter move by Japan's still powerful fleet.
The Japanese warships apparently steamed into the central Solomons war zone from the Rabaul area or possibly from the enemy's main base at Truk.
The Japanese fleet movement was preceded on July 2 by a daylight bombing attack against American positions on Rendova Island.
"Damage was negligible," the navy said in referring to the air assault.

Some McCawley Crew Killed

There was no news of land action on New Georgia Island, where American invasion troops were driving through the jungle toward the important enemy airbase at Munda five miles from Rendova.
The navy also announced that several crew members were killed aboard the American transport McCawley, which was sunk during the landing on Rendova Island early in the week.

Previously the navy reported there was no loss of life on the McCawley, which had unloaded its troops before the Japanese attacked with torpedo planes.
"A later report now reveals that several of the crew were killed in the initial torpedo attack made by Japanese planes," the navy announced.

Charges Roosevelt Fostering Scheme For Another Term

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kan., July 3.—Charging President Roosevelt with fostering a political scheme for a third term instead of a program to win the war, Alfred M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and the 1936 G.O.P. presidential candidate, today scathingly criticized the President's veto of the anti-subsidy bill.
"This is a political scheme—not a program to win the war," the former governor's statement said.
"The President is stubbornly determined to have his way because he thinks it will help Candidate Roosevelt in the election. He evidently has lost all interest in the welfare of the country in his reckless determination to force cheap food prices temporarily regardless of whether he destroys our agricultural production."

MORE BOMBERS REACH BRITAIN

bombings in Germany's strategic Ruhr district and "intruder" raids on Berlin by lightning-like RA Mosquito fighters have registered devastating successes. Simultaneously, an official capitulation of Allied air activities from the start of the war brought the revelation that a total of 18,031 Axis planes had been destroyed, exclusive of those accounted for by Red Air Force pilots on the Russian front.
In its review of June operations, the air ministry disclosed that German authorities were attempting to transport machinery and workers of the huge Krupp Works to other parts of the Reich following destructive Allied assaults on Essen.
The Germans are trying to move approximately 3,500 workers to Alsace and attempting to transport much of the Krupp machinery to Luxembourg and Mulhausen. It was said, Allied bombs were reported to have left a hundred thousand Essen residents with no roofs over their heads.

Berlin In Fatigue

Information now available on damage resulting from the bombing of the Moehne and Eder dams in the Ruhr had disclosed that a considerable amount of machinery for the production of synthetic oil was destroyed. Recent assaults on transportation centers have reduced coal traffic toward Italy by an estimated one third and brought chaos to attempted transporting by river.
Berlin was described as being in a state of "utter fatigue" from nightly alerts which caused a rush for bomb shelters.
Of the total number of Axis planes destroyed, 4,000 were brought down in England—three fourths of them during the battle of Britain—the announcement said. American planes have shot down more than 1,100 German fighters while losing less than 300 aircraft. The Axis has lost 4,000 aircraft over Europe; 3,500 in the middle east; more than 2,000 in Tunisia, and more than 4,000 in the Far East, India and Burma, according to the compilation.
Losses of the RAF plus those of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe and North Africa have been 9,500. These do not include U.S. losses in the Far East.

RUSSIAN TROOPS PENETRATE INTO GERMAN LINES

entered the German positions after launching a surprise attack and forced the Nazis to abandon their materiel and retreat in disorder. Some prisoners were taken and then the Russians returned to their original positions. It was said.
Earlier it was disclosed that 600 Germans were killed in a fierce battle in which the Russians overcame the Nazi defenses and took possession of a strategic height. The Germans counter-attacked but to no avail. The high command said that after accomplishing this mission the Red army units returned to their former line.
Battery Duels
Artillery and mortar battery duels were fought between the Germans and Russians on both the Leningrad and Volkhov river fronts.
On the southern front, in the Belgorod area north of Kharkov, the high command said five Nazi firing points and two blockhouses were destroyed by Russian mortar fire.
The Soviet air force continued to play a large part in operations to disrupt Nazi communications and supplies, carrying out a destructive sortie against German shipping in the Barents sea. It was announced that Russian planes sunk or crippled five German ships and destroyed nine enemy fighter planes in attacks on two convoys.
Further information on the large-scale raid against German-held ports in the Crimea and Western Caucasus revealed that several Nazi ships were sunk and many others damaged. The assault was directed against Kerch, in the Crimea, and Taman and Sennaya on the opposite side of the Kerch Straits.

SHOTGUN BRIGADE IS NOW IN ACTION

City police department shotgun brigade went into action last night, several days following Mayor Charles B. Mayne's warning that dogs caught running at large would be shot dead.
Several were shot last night, and today a car travelled to different sections where dogs were said to be at large. Damage to V-gardens caused the mayors orders to police to shoot dogs running at large.

propaganda minister) elected for an Allied invasion, but there are many days for invasion before the leaves of autumn fall."

In Due Time

The allusion to autumn referred to Prime Minister Winston Churchill's promise that landings will be made in due time.

The Nazis may have had one of several possible motives in issuing the persistent reports that an invasion would take place July 3, or they may have believed they were on the right track and find themselves fooled.

It may be that the German authorities hoped to confuse French patriots and make them show themselves. Or the campaign may have been designed so as to suggest that the Nazis have been successful in Allied plans.

Some quarters viewed today's inept wisecracks of the Paris radio as an attempt to recover the ball which the Nazis fumbled by premature propaganda. Since the fall of Tunisia, Paris, Berlin and Rome transmitters have been fishing for information on when and where an invasion blow might fall. It is possible that Allied counter-espionage infiltrated enemy circles with hints that July 3 was the day and the enemy fell for it.

The best opinion in London still is that the opening of a second front in Europe is many weeks distant because of the number of factors involved and the scope of such an undertaking.

"The Germans' great invasion hoax has reached its climax," said the Evening Standard in giving an account of the Paris broadcasts.

Direct hits also were scored on hangars at G-ottalige and bursts were seen in the dispersal areas.

Royal Air Force heavy bombers from the Middle East made a night attack on the Catania railway yards in Sicily while planes of the North African strategic air force were pounding the northern Sicilian port of Palermo. The Castelvetrano air-drome in Sicily was hammered in daylight by American Mitchell bombers from North Africa which were escorted by P-40 Warhawks shot down one Axis fighter.

Cagliari Again Hit

The port city of Cagliari, capital of the island of Sardinia, was given a second successive bombardment by strategic air force planes.
In the R. A. F. raid on Catania bomb bursts were seen all over the railway sidings and in the industrial area. Sulphur refineries were hit and four fires were started.

R. A. F. long-range fighters attacked a schooner in Kyllene harbor off the west coast of Greece and many strikes were scored on the vessel.

Previously fighter squadrons attacked two dredgers in Levkas channel along the Greek west coast. Many machine-gun and cannon shells hits were scored. Axis gun-posts on the canal bank were silenced.

Cairo said that in all the operations from the Middle East five Allied aircraft were lost.

entered the German positions after launching a surprise attack and forced the Nazis to abandon their materiel and retreat in disorder. Some prisoners were taken and then the Russians returned to their original positions. It was said.
Earlier it was disclosed that 600 Germans were killed in a fierce battle in which the Russians overcame the Nazi defenses and took possession of a strategic height. The Germans counter-attacked but to no avail. The high command said that after accomplishing this mission the Red army units returned to their former line.
Battery Duels
Artillery and mortar battery duels were fought between the Germans and Russians on both the Leningrad and Volkhov river fronts.
On the southern front, in the Belgorod area north of Kharkov, the high command said five Nazi firing points and two blockhouses were destroyed by Russian mortar fire.
The Soviet air force continued to play a large part in operations to disrupt Nazi communications and supplies, carrying out a destructive sortie against German shipping in the Barents sea. It was announced that Russian planes sunk or crippled five German ships and destroyed nine enemy fighter planes in attacks on two convoys.
Further information on the large-scale raid against German-held ports in the Crimea and Western Caucasus revealed that several Nazi ships were sunk and many others damaged. The assault was directed against Kerch, in the Crimea, and Taman and Sennaya on the opposite side of the Kerch Straits.

Several were shot last night, and today a car travelled to different sections where dogs were said to be at large. Damage to V-gardens caused the mayors orders to police to shoot dogs running at large.

Independence Day 1943

The Declaration of Independence—one of the greatest documents in all history—was signed 167 years ago.

Today we are engaged in a great war to determine whether such a national policy of individual freedom shall continue to live.

That is the issue, and it is squarely before each of us. If we value this heritage of freedom, then no sacrifice of comfort, wealth—or even of life will be too great a price to pay for the winning of this war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHECK WAR WORK ORPHANS

In Britain where ever so many more women work than in our country, no mother of a child under fourteen is allowed to work unless she can guarantee that her child has proper care and protection in her absence.

Repeatedly, in this column, I have been saying that no mother in our nation should be allowed to work without giving the same guarantee. Perhaps the average fourteen-year-old in Britain is safer without adults at home than is the average fourteen-year-old in this country. Anyhow it's the child from ten to fourteen or fifteen who is in gravest moral danger when the mother works and has no adequate substitute at home nor has her child in a protective center.

Real Program Lacking

In many of our larger cities, even in some cities which have had no kindergarten, numerous nurseries have been established to care for tots of working mothers. These nurseries are financed partly from the federal funds, local funds and small fees.

Although this federal fund is also available for extended school programs and protective centers for children up to fourteen, there has been almost no program set up for the six to fourteen age range child, where there is more moral danger by far than in the pre-school years.

But working mothers of these older children don't, as a rule, want this care of their children. They say their children are able to take care of themselves and the children are sure they can look after themselves.

Many working mothers assume that their neighbors should look after their children, a sa kind of patriotic duty. No matter how much mothers earn, they generally assume they should pay little or nothing for the care of their children. One American city was an example. When recently the mothers were told they must pay sixty cents a day for the care of each tot, the total attendance in six nursery schools dropped, according to the newspaper dispatch, from 240 to 54.

We are going to protect the children of America until pressure is brought on parents to assume responsibility for their children. To this end, Washington, not hesitant in regulating manpower, should immediately forbid any war industry to employ a mother who does not give a guarantee that her child under fourteen or fifteen will be adequately protected while she works. For this protection the working mother should pay a reasonable fee, of course. Perhaps there should be an exception for indigent mothers and for mothers whose husbands are in the service.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Writer.
Harold, who has 16 titles and 10 million dollars to run the coal mines.

If you want to know why Harold needs 10 million federal cartwheels to run the mines which have been run up until now by the operators without 10 million dollars from the government you will have to ask Harold.

Meanwhile pray that the government does not take over any other solvent business.

The petty cash box is getting low and cannot stand many more 10 million touches.

Harold got the 10 million from the president but he did not have to ask anybody for his 16th title.

Bending low before the mirror he dubbed himself federal coal mine administrator.

He now is a knight in shining bituminous armor and is privileged to add the letters PCMA to his previous titles.

His first official act after the ceremony was to arrange with the RFC for additional touches when the 10 million runs out.

NIGHTWORKERS' WIVES

A friendly correspondent writes: Of wives of men who work nights. They sit alone the evenings through. Nowhere to go and naught to do. By day a silence grave they keep. To let their husbands get some sleep.

To put it mildly, 'tis indeed A topsy-turvy life they lead.

When other couples seek a show, 'Tis off to work their husbands go. How very strange their lives must be.

His breakfast is her time for tea. When wives are toasting breakfast bread, Their men are on their way to bed.

What for the wives is midnight grim Is time for lunch for Jack or Jim.

A woman must be very brave. For such a man to be a slave; To swear to comfort and delight A man who changes day to night; A man who snores from eight to four.

And works the hours he ought to sleep! Yet many men who lead such lives Are blest with most devoted wives.

JULY FOURTH!

Tomorrow is July Fourth. It is a great day and should be given all the respect that is due it. Hats off, Americans!

Apples will be in great demand this year and they should not be allowed to rot. Take good care of them all summer.

Trucks and all necessary vehicles should be allowed all the gas they need before any pleasure driving gas is given out.

One American soldier summed up the compensations of seeing service in India as "Where else in the world can I get shaved in bed for two cents?"

...some men set their alarm clocks only as a signal to turn over, there are two kinds of men: those who play square with girls and those who play round with them.

...as we have remarked before, or at least we intended to, some men will need monuments to perpetuate their memory. Guarded virtue is only suppressed wickedness.

Every summer quite a few farmers fall off a load of hay and get hurt. We know.

Some people think, and other people think they are thinking.

Not all advertising pays. Zoot suiters would have disappeared long ago if given no publicity.

Strange, isn't it, but you never hear of an octogenarian boasting that he never touched liquor or tobacco.

Bombing alone conquered an island. Now divide Europe's area by the area of the island and multiply by the days required for the job.

Knowing what to believe these days is sumpin'.

Example of utter futility: Officials trying to find a reasonable theory to explain why teen-age kids act that way.

Why do so many people belittle the South in movies, broadcasts and books? There is really no reason to envy the South.

Decent men say: "The strong are obligated not to abuse or take advantage of the weak." How silly that sounds to Japs and Germans.

But if kids are old enough and strong enough for assault and murder, why aren't they capable of soldiering?

A Pittsburgh woman in her divorce suit claimed her husband objected to her smoking on their honeymoon and criticized her appearance. These days that's enough to make any woman sore.

Good Taste

Don B. & Patent Office (By FRANCES MARBLE)

IT IS FOOLISH TO BE JEALOUS "Can you give me any suggestions for curing myself of being unreasonably and blindly jealous?" When I see my fiancée talking or dancing with another woman at a party, I can't "take it." Not that she has ever done anything to make me suspicious. Nevertheless, I ask all the way home from a party at which she has been politely attentive to other women. Is there any hope for me?

Answer: Not unless you learn to control such destructive emotions. Inasmuch as you admit that your fiancée is blameless, in such cases, why worry so over imaginary unfaithfulness. The only remedy for jealousy is the application of common sense. Would you prefer the kind of boy who is not even civil to the women he meets? If your fiancée did not attract the opposite sex you would immediately lose your respect for him. As long as you travel in civilized society, you will encounter moments when your fiancée will have to dance and talk with other women. If you do not improve, you will surely lose him and deservedly so, for no man will endure an insanely jealous woman for long at a time. If you cannot overcome this unfortunate trait, seek the counsel of a psychiatrist, for you are showing the symptoms of a serious disease which will eat out your heart and perhaps lead to insanity or other tragedies. Nip it in the bud, before it becomes strongly rooted. Personally, I think you should laugh it off and not take life so seriously.

Question: Should a girl who has broken her engagement after a betrothal of a year place an announcement to that effect in the newspaper?—B. B.

Answer: There are some people who think that a notice to that effect should be placed in the newspaper. But the more conservative viewpoint is against such publicity as unnecessary and not in the best of taste. If the engagement is broken after the wedding invitations have been sent out, they should be recalled by the issuance of cards stating that the wedding will not take place. No explanation, however, is necessary.

Two marines were willing away some of their leave by drifting about the pleasure park in a boat. The first marine, John, was a self-appointed evangelist and it wasn't very long after he was alone with anyone but what he would begin to convert them to his beliefs.

On this occasion his companion, Bill, happened to have some very definite ideas himself, so the argument became so animated that finally the boat turned over. And John, who could swim, immediately seized upon his opportunity and taking Bill by the coat collar, he raised his head out of water and asked, "Now, do you believe now?"

"No," replied Bill, "and down under the water he was ducked by the zealous John.

In a few moments, John pulled Bill up for a breath of air, and repeated the question, and louder than before, Bill answered, "No!"

The third time Bill came to the surface, John asked the question once more, and Bill, being very much in need of more air, finally exclaimed, "Yes, yes, I believe!"

John held him in suspense for a moment, and studied this sudden conversion. The decision made, he said, "Well, I'm bound to believe you but though I'll take you into the boat on the strength of your conversion, I believe the best way would be just to drown you right here that I might be sure you died in the faith."

Didja ever hear about the hill-billy who was chopping wood one day and unfortunately the hatchet grazed the thumb of his left hand with which he was steadying the piece of kindling he was splitting? He looked at his injured hand for a few moments and then muttered, "Golly, it's a good thing I didn't have hold of the hatchet with both hands, or I'd have cut my finger off for sure."

Fear For Health Of Overcrowded Capital
Many Now Dwell Amidst "Slum" Conditions
Increase Of Inhabitants Has Been Amazing

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Congress is seriously worried over health conditions in Washington. The house of representatives' committee on a health subcommittee which issued a report on the subject the other day, and it threw an undoubted scare into the ranks of the legislators on Capitol Hill.

The investigators declared plainly that a "dreadful epidemic" threatens from the present situation. The idea shocks the lawmakers on general principles, and they obviously do not fancy the notion of being themselves in the midst of such an outbreak.

Mostly their own bunch are pretty comfortably quartered, but the investigators committee members warn them that a civil of undisciplined germs, once on the rampage, may be very difficult to confine exclusively to the slums.

The town has grown, since the war started, at a rate that no generator has been able to keep accurate track of.

To be sure, it has spread far into what previously were its suburbs, in Virginia, Maryland and even as far as Pennsylvania. This belt today, however, is about as badly crowded as the central area, and transportation in and out has become nearly a problem impossible to solve.

The growth not only has been enormous, but it has been so rapid that the community's population at least has doubled in a couple of years.

It already was a sizable concentration, rather than a city, provided with accommodation for its inhabitants, when the latest influx began. Housing was at a premium immediately. By now park benches are scarce. There is not restaurant room for transients.

Living quarters for would-be permanent residents are in the most terrific demand, though.

Washington is being referred to of late as the "capital of the world."

Perhaps the average capital has some slums. But how extensive are the District of Columbia's? The

MEMORIZE IT

Every citizen of this Republic should be able to repeat the Gettysburg Speech of Abraham Lincoln. Let every reader of The News who cannot do this, read it and thereafter memorize it.

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in the larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead, we take increased devotion, that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom—and that the government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Bishop Ward Takes Church In Alaska Close To Army Post

Retired Bishop Of This Diocese Again Takes Up Work Among Fighting Men

(Special To The News)

ERIE, Pa., July 3.—Rev. John Chamberlain Ward, who retired June 1 as bishop of the diocese of Erie, will become rector of a small Episcopal parish one mile from a large Army post in Alaska, it was learned today. Bishop Ward will leave for his new post in the near future.

Administering to the spiritual needs of American fighting men is not new to Bishop Ward. He enlisted in the U. S. Army as a chaplain in 1916 at the outbreak of the disorder on the Mexican border, and volunteered for overseas duty a year later, when our country entered World War I. He was wounded in active service in France.

Bishop Ward is the holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, the Purple Heart, the Army and Navy Legion of Valor citation, the French Croix de Guerre and the British Military Cross, in recognition of his distinguished war record. He was honorably discharged from the Army in 1919 with the rank of captain.

ports and stole through the darkness to achieve a new objective some 170 miles nearer Japan than our previous bases in the Solomon islands.

For weeks the troops had been preparing for this push—the first land action since we drove the Japanese into the sea off Guadalcanal. For weeks they sweated and swore in training before convoys were ready to inch them through the enemy submarine lanes and bring them to this mosquito and fly-infested hothouse of the Pacific.

The biggest air force ever assembled in the South Pacific was primed and ready to lend aerial cover; amphibious landing craft, transports and supply ships clustered in formation and farther out a squadron of destroyers and cruisers was ready to race northward to participate in bombardment of Japanese bases.

The commander of the operation took pains to explain the geographical set-up of the islands made this move one of the most difficult of the South Pacific campaign.

Treacherous Reefs Treacherous coral reefs surround the New Georgia group and make the most optimistic observers didn't want to discuss the outcome. The approach itself presented an unbelievably difficult problem.

Picture thousands of soldiers swarming into landing boats which champed anxiously at the sides of their bigger brothers of the sea and then race forward toward the coral ring that lines the northeastern tip of Rendova. They head for a narrow strip of land that could be called a beach only by a super-optimist, but to reach it they must inch through a narrow slight in the coral.

Such a race for an unknown shore is a navigator's nightmare. And there is no other approach to the island.

What is the significance of the New Georgia thrust? Were we not to ignore an island-by-island campaign?

The answers lie in the fact the Japanese have an air field on New Georgia which have been bombing repeatedly for many weeks but which still can be used. One officer amplified:

"As yet we have insufficient strength to ignore the island-by-island war and strike at the heart of Japan. Therefore we will press the war with what we have. We have no alternative."

Having seen the tremendous supply foundries at our advanced bases and knowing the tremendous superiority and fighting ability of our airmen, I can state the Japs will have no time to do their washing in the next few days.

Preliminary Move Without underestimating the enemy's sneaky qualities and ability to conceal themselves in the jungle which drapes itself over the Georgia group like a great green shawl, it seems a fair estimate the enemy in this area will be neutralized within three weeks.

Our forces definitely do not intend to stop in New Georgia but neither do they intend to launch a rolling offensive immediately.

The purpose of this move is to shorten the Japanese southern perimeter in the Solomons and prepare for the day when additional supplies will enable a pincer to close from the north, west and south to choke the enemy to death.

Because of the amazing natural protection of the islands, this campaign required long hours of discussion and preparation, plus the invaluable aid of friendly natives and guides who led our men through the treacherous channels.

As one observed put it: "This will be a battle of wits. They are just as important in this kind of country as battleships."

WOMEN "CAPTURE" AIRCRAFT The ladies have taken over the aircraft industry. Figures show that the female contingent ranks 70 to 80 per cent among new workers hired by many aircraft companies.

The battleship is the most expensive and complicated structure ever conceived and made by man, according to the National Council of American Shipbuilders. Into its making goes every skilled trade, and in it is incorporated every known science. A battleship may cost as high as $100,000,000.

YANK AUDACITY GIVEN TRIBUTE

(Continued on Page Seven) Sault on our way back to base. The primary mission was accomplished with the loss of only one transport, the McCawley.

The attack against Munda is clear evidence that we are forced to continue island-to-island warfare, tedious and disappointing as it may be to contemplate. But Rabaul, the key to the whole Japanese defensive arc, can be captured only after the seizure of the air bases the Japanese have established.

Apart from Munda and Vila there are six more of these in the Solomons chain, Buka, Kieta, Kahili, Ballale and the relatively unsuccessful seaplane base at Reka'a Bay.

Will Open Way So much land-based airpower in the closed waters of the northern Solomons and the New Guinea-New Britain area would render an amphibious invasion against Rabaul far too costly to undertake. Naval excursions such as the bombardments of the northern Solomons areas in the past must be hit-and-run attacks and must be made by night. When we succeed in wresting Munda and Vila from the Japanese, however, the way will be open to Bougainville and Rabaul.

Plans for the seizure of the New Georgia group have been preparing for many months and intensive preparations by the enemy had to be matched by even greater preparation.

It has demanded the establishment of island bases throughout the entire South Pacific area so that vast reserves of men and material might be available at a moment's notice.

The long lines of communications from the United States, too few ships and the crudest possible unloading facilities have forced us to take time and allow the enemy to dig in.

The last three weeks have been very busy for the commanders of the offensive, but their work has proved the brilliance of American leadership in attention to detail and the sturdiness of its offensive spirit.

U. S. ARMY LIFE IS OLD STUFF TO AVIATION CADET

(International News Service) BLACKLAND ARMY AIR FIELD, Waco, Tex., July 3.—Army life and flying are familiar routine to Aviation Cadet Charles A. Wilde, 21, now taking his advanced pilot, training at Blackland Army Air field, but he also has a real reason for wanting a crack at the Japs.

His father, Master Sergeant Arthur Wilde, had been a bandmaster in the army for 28 years before the attack on Pearl Harbor, when he was hit by a bomb fragment and given a medical discharge.

Charles, who was born at Fort Francis E. Warren, Cheyenne, Wyo., has lived on army posts in the Panama Canal Zone, San Francisco, Denver and Texas. Although draft exempt, he had been a steward for Pan American Airways prior to going into the service. He enlisted in the Air Corps immediately after Pearl Harbor.

People with small hands are usually quick and impulsive; generally they hate detail and are either a great success or a big failure. People with large hands are much more patient, careful over details, thoughtful and cautious, and very rarely act rashly.

HOW LONG SINCE YOU'VE READ

The Constitution of the United States?

"We, the people of the United States . . ."

156 years ago, these simple words began America's warranty of freedom.

Today we are deep in war—so that this warranty may endure. Should we win—and win we must—whom will it profit?

Are you a farmer, and do you love your land? Are you a worker, and do you cherish your hard-bought home? It will profit you that no man, without due process, can wrest your home, your field, your plow from you.

Do you worship God in a church, or in a synagogue, or in the secret places of your heart? It will profit you that no heathen hand can desecrate your altars.

Do you impart the truth to the printed page—or do you seek it there? It will profit you that the presses will not be shattered in the night.

Do you talk with your neighbors in the market place—or meet on the steps of the town hall? It will profit you that no bludgeon can drive you into secret cellars.

Our Constitution assures us these things. And these we fight for.

In many ways we fight. Some in small, silent ways—when our sons have gone. Some in large, heroic ways—in the roaring of wings. Farmers fight in the rows of corn; writers under the lamp; ministers from the pulpit's height.

Not the least of these are the men of industry. And proud we are to be among them.

Proud to pledge ourselves still further to the fight—that all peoples everywhere may continue to find in this Constitution of ours a heartening hope!

Preserving Our INDEPENDENCE

One hundred and sixty-seven years ago the Declaration of Independence was signed. In framing this historic document our forefathers labored under no delusions. They realized that this act alone would not create a nation. Valley Forge was a year and a half away . . . Yorktown even later. They knew that a hard fight remained to ESTABLISH our freedom.

Today we Americans realize that we have a hard fight ahead to KEEP our freedom.

This year . . . of all years . . . we should mark this holiday in a different manner. We should . . . individually . . . examine our conscience. We should ask ourselves . . . what are we doing to keep our country free?

Are we doing more and better essential work? Are we raising larger crops? Are we buying our share of bonds? Are we . . . cheerfully . . . bearing our share of the sacrifices necessary in time of war?

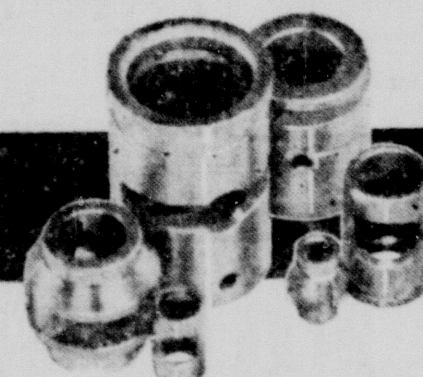

If the answer is YES . . . then our INDEPENDENCE is secure.

Celebrate Day Of Independence At Park Monday

All Sections Of Pool Open; Various Rides Are Ready For Public

Cascade Park is ready to afford recreation to thousands of joy seekers Monday, according to Chris Coulthard, manager, who stated today that the pool will open at noon. All of the rides have been made ready, and because of gas rationing many parents and their children will go early to the park and remain until late at night.

The new pipeline from East Washington street lower gate has been laid through the Midway to the pool, and all three sections of the revamped swimming place have been filled.

Although the day of Independence will fall tomorrow, it will be celebrated Monday.

The Dodge'em, Merry-Go-Round, Ski-Ball concessions and the boats on Cascade lake will operate. The dance pavilion will resound to the strains of good music for dancers Monday night.

Manager Coulthard explained that bathers should bring their own towels, and that although the big day is Monday, that cut rates like on Kiddies Day will not prevail.

Rio de Janeiro which means "River of January" was so called because on Jan. 1, 1531, Martin Affonso sailed into the bay, and thinking he was at the mouth of a great river, christened it Rio de Janeiro.

Blood Donors In City Total 1,907

Red Cross Mobile Unit Completes Two Week's Stay Here Friday

Mobile unit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service concluded a highly successful two weeks stay in New Castle Friday evening, during which 1832 pints of blood for the blood plasma work of the Red Cross were given by residents of New Castle. One hundred and seventy-four donors registered on Friday brought the total number of donors to 1907 for 11 days.

In expressing appreciation of the fine support given by everybody, "the public, the committee, and all those concerned," Mrs. John E. Elliott, chairman of the Blood Donor Service for Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross, said today that the cooperation received from everyone, donors and workers alike, was extremely gratifying. "No one was too tired or too busy to do anything that was needed to help," she said.

Commenting on the fact that several hundred more people registered as donors than could be given appointments, Mrs. Elliott emphasized that these names are being kept on file and that when it is possible to set up a temporary center here as some future date, donors who were disappointed this time will be given first opportunity.

Any volunteer donor who was not called for an appointment, who can get to New Wilmington on July 12, 13 or 14, when a mobile unit from the Pittsburgh Red Cross chapter will be set up there, or to Besencon on July 15, 16 or 17 may donate at one of those places, Mrs. Elliott suggested.

Frew of New Castle.

William Charles Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Rowland of Park avenue, who was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps and received his wings as a pursuit pilot at Selma, Ala., on June 30, arrived home Friday on a 12-day leave.

TIRES TO TRIPLE
Car owners can look forward to three times as many tires in 1943 as in 1942, says Rubber Director William M. Jeffers. More than half will come from stock; the rest will be manufactured from synthetic materials.

American farms have stock and machinery to a total value of $9,-000,000,000.

THIS IS ONE FOURTH OF JULY THAT REQUIRES NO FIREWORKS

Ordinarily, the Fourth of July calls for fireworks, patriotic speeches, and a general holiday from coast to coast. But not this year. This "Fourth" requires no fireworks over here. The lads over there are doing that for us.

Neither does it require any speeches. This Fourth calls for a re-dedication of our Americanism, a solemn pledge to ourselves and to our country that we will follow through, that we will stay on the job and in our own field do just what the lads in the South Pacific and North Africa are doing, see the job through.

The time for fireworks and speeches will come when the Axis is folded up and your boy comes home. Right now Americans are much too busy working, to take time out for cheering.

Plan Recreation Aid For Deshon Hospital Men

Boxing Tournament Scheduled For July 30 To Raise Recreational Funds

For the purpose of aiding the recreational facilities of the Deshon General Hospital in Butler, a boxing tournament will be held in New Castle Friday night, July 30. Preliminary plans for the tournament were drawn Friday night in the Greater New Castle Association offices in The Castleton Hotel when an executive committee was formed, officers named and plans started.

The need for outside assistance in the way of funds for the Deshon hospital has been apparent to a number of New Castle people who have visited the hospital. There are many things needed, among them a motion picture projection machine, wicker furniture for sun rooms, recreation equipment and the like. With the need apparent, the meeting Friday night was called and through the boxing tournament it is hoped that somewhere near $5000 can be raised to aid.

Officers and Committees

Present at the meeting were representative citizens of the city. The Jefferson A. C., a licensed athletic club of New Castle, has agreed to sponsor the boxing tournament. The executive committee pledged itself to get out and work and get enough tickets sold to make the tournament worth while.

Louis B. Round was named as the general chairman of the executive committee. Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, was named secretary, and Fred Duff, cashier of the Peoples Bank, was named treasurer. Committee chairmen follow:

Tickets: B. N. Hanlon; finance, Capt. Roger W. Rowland, James M. Smith Jr., and Ivor V. Davis; special gifts, J. Preston Flaherty, Emanuel Shenkan and Jack Gerson; boxing, Ed Fritz and Tommy Leach; publicity, Bart Richards; radio, Ray Wallace; industrial, Jack Griggs and Ralph Audino; ministers, Rev. Francis King; service men, Chester C. Sweesy and Frank T. Sargent; building and grounds, S. Garvin Ligo; policing, Russell Melvin. Other committees will be named later.

The site for the boxing tournament will be named later. Friday night's meeting was the first meeting but much was accomplished. Prices for the boxing tournament will be within reach of everyone and it is hoped to make the night of July 30th one of pleasure for those patronizing it, and profitable for the hospital where men who have been wounded in the South Pacific and in North Africa are being brought back to health and strength.

At the meeting Friday night, Lt. Thomas Perry, public relations officer for the Deshon hospital, was present and spoke, outlining the needs of the hospital. With the picture firmly in their minds, the executive committee started to work. Their work will end on the night of July 30.

PRAYER

By Edgar A. Guest

When all the smoke has cleared away

And silent are the guns;

When home come once again to stay

Our daughters and our sons;

When sheathed is every flashing blade

And every fox hole filled,

God grant the peace that shall be made

Will keep the cannon stilled.

When all this agony is done

And comforted the pain,

God grant the peace that shall be won

Shall not be lost again.

God grant, when tyranny shall fall

And all its power has passed

When freedom has been won for all,

This war shall be the last!

Legion Starts Record Drive

Public Now Being Asked To Donate Records For Men In Service

Chairman Edon O. Womer of the American Legion's second campaign for old phonograph records, announced today that an intensified campaign to secure every available record, not of any value to its owner, gets under way today.

The first campaign, conducted in August, 1942, netted 11 million old records, which were sold as scrap, and the income was used in the purchase of 337,000 new records. Requests from the armed forces totaled four million, so many of the boys were disappointed.

The records were packed in kits of 48 records each, and distributed to the various branches of the armed forces.

Anyone having any old records, which they would contribute in this campaign, is asked to bring them to the American Legion Home, 134 N. Jefferson street, or if they cannot be brought in, a call to the Legion Home, 9068, will result in someone picking them up.

Gives 30 Days Strike Warning

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—In what is thought to be the first action of its kind in the country, a Philadelphia Hatters Union today served notice under the Smith-Connally Act that it plans to go on strike in 30 days unless it is able to come to adjust its grievances with the Diamond Hat Co. in the interim.

The congressional act, passed over President Roosevelt's veto, makes strikes legal after a 30-day "cooling off" period.

Local officials of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union said the walkout may be necessary because of accumulated unadjusted grievances and the employer's "efforts to destroy and undermine the effectiveness of collective bargaining."

The 300 employees are working on orders for the army and navy.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 3.—Struck by a street car as she crossed between the safety zones at Forbes and Brady streets, Sister Cecilia, 36, of St. John's Convent, Susquehanna, Pa., was dead today. She was a member of the Immaculate Heart Order.

The past year was the worst she has known in her long, almost single-handed, fight against Japan. Blocked on the east and on the south, she has had few weapons with which to fight an enemy stronger in resources than ever before.

China was able to conclude her sixth year with a military victory, achieved partly with American air assistance. Without this help, China—already weakened—might have lost her vast food-producing areas, and further disaster unpleasant to contemplate might have resulted.

China fights on but her situation is still critical. We must give her more help for her seventh year of resistance which will be a crucial one.

To China, first to fight, our friendship!

A MESSAGE TO EVERY AMERICAN FROM THE PRESIDENT

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON

June 24, 1943

My dear Mr. Secretary:

Through you, as Secretary of the Treasury, I want to congratulate the American people on the way in which they have supported the voluntary payroll savings plan.

I am proud of the fact that 27,000,000 patriotic Americans are regularly investing more than $420,000,000 a month to help pay the cost of the war. And since all of this money comes from wages and salaries — nearly 90 percent from people earning less than $5,000, and the bulk of it from those working in war plants — I do not hesitate to say that the payroll savings plan is the greatest single factor we now have in protecting ourselves against inflationary spending.

This is a great record, both from the standpoint of curbing inflation and from the standpoint of financing the war. However, I heartily endorse your present drive to improve that record, and I agree it must be improved if we are to keep pace with the increasing demands of the war.

I therefore join you in calling upon the American people — and upon labor and management particularly — to do still more. Additional people should be convinced of the necessity of participating. Everyone now on the payroll savings plan should materially increase the amount of bonds he is buying. We originally asked for 10 percent, but now we need considerably more.

I hope every American on a payroll will figure out for himself the extent to which he can curtail his spending, and will put every dollar of additional saving thus made into the payroll savings plan.

Sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Treasury

AID TO CHINA

Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

On July 7, China will observe the sixth anniversary of the invasion of Chinese soil by Japan, and on that day the heroic Chinese people will take up the burden of their seventh year of war.

Many countries in the orbit of war have known destruction and death, but in paying just tribute to our ally this July 7, we must remember that China, who has been fighting the longest, has been suffering the longest.

The past year was the worst she has known in her long, almost single-handed, fight against Japan. Blocked on the east and on the south, she has had few weapons with which to fight an enemy stronger in resources than ever before.

China was able to conclude her sixth year with a military victory, achieved partly with American air assistance. Without this help, China—already weakened—might have lost her vast food-producing areas, and further disaster unpleasant to contemplate might have resulted.

China fights on but her situation is still critical. We must give her more help for her seventh year of resistance which will be a crucial one.

Installation of officers will occupy the attention of the club at their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday, July 6, when President Arthur Meek and his corps of officers will be formally installed. Come out and give the new officers a good send-off, and honor the retiring group.

ROY F. CONWAY Secretary.

We need just about the same amount of food all the time winter and summer. If we work hard we need more. If we are resting we do not need so much.

There are some essentials. We must have them if we are to be healthy and strong.

Here is a list of nutrients which we all should eat every day. A generous serving of each of the articles in this list should be eaten:

Meat or fish, milk, vegetable, green leafy vegetable, bread from enriched flour, butter or enriched substitute, fruit and one egg.

Dodds No Match For Gunder Haegg

Swedish Turf Comet Winner By 20 Yards

Covers Two Miles In 9:2.8;
12,000 Fans Cheer Sensational Athlete

WARMY PASSES
15-FOOT MARK

By SAUL PETT
(International News Service Staff Writer)

CHICAGO, July 3.—America's hope of catching up with Gunder Haegg was reduced to a few sad possibilities today:

1. A handicap race.
2. A relay team.
3. Make him run with a 10-pound weight on each ankle.
4. A gazelle trap.

There are probably other ways of beating the world champion middle distance runner from Gavle, Sweden, but they'd have to be just as drastic. "One way suggests they race him against Count Fleet."

Two Americans were rated a sliver of a chance at beating Haegg when the Smorgasbord invasion began two weeks ago. If Gregg Rice couldn't beat him, maybe Gil Dodds could, so the wishful thinking went.

And so Rice and Dodds went. Gunder licked Dodds, the Boston divinity student, last night in a two-mile race in Soldier Field with no more trouble than he took to beat Rice in New York two weeks ago.

No complaints have been forthcoming from Dodds about last night's race. But the visiting fireman had a few. After the victory he apologized to his countrymen, via short-wave radio, for not breaking his own record. The track, he said, was too soft; "it felt like a potato field."

Haegg last night shared the billing with Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, holder of the world's best pole-vaulting mark, as the special attractions in the 42nd Central A. A. U. meet, which, incidentally, was won by the Navy Pier team from Chicago.

Warmerdam also disappointed the 12,000 fans in the matter of record breaking. The best he could do was 15 feet, 4 inches. He tried 15 feet, 9 inches, a half inch above his record, and spilled the bar on three attempts.

The program was polite. Haegg and Dodds left the others far back at the close of the second of the eight laps.

Never Extended
The scrawny Swede glided with a light and smooth stride into the lead early in the second lap. The bespectacled theologian plugged along at his elbows for the better part of the race, but it was obvious Gunder wasn't being extended.

Dodds tried desperately to grab the lead four times, and on each attempt the best he could do was pull up even.

At no time, it appeared, was Haegg forced to break his stride. Dodds made his last bid on the backstretch. From then on all he saw was the Swede's bouncing hair as he decided to part company. Gunder switched his fluid drive into high and streaked across the finish line 20 yards to the good.

His time was 9:2.8.

Double Feature

At Chicago Track

CHICAGO, July 3.—Racing fans in the Chicago area had a double bill of feature events dished up for them at Washington Park today where the Arlington Park meet is being run this year.

The first event—the $5,000 Glencoe Handicap—is a seven furlong sprinting event for 3 year olds. An overnight field of nine was entered. The second and main attraction was the Lassie Stakes which, if all 15 entries go to the post, will gross around $35,000. The six furlong dash for two year old fillies is the richest event of its type in the country.

ELDERS-MOOSE BATTLE SUNDAY

Clash To Be Played On Lee Avenue Field; Postpone Indies-Pottery Game

Only one game will be unfurled by City Baseball leagues on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. That set to will pair the Elders and Moose on Lee avenue field, West Side.

The second game, involving the league leading Lawrence Indies and Shenango Pottery, has been postponed due to the death of Manager "Boss" Zidow's brother. The clash was billed for Mahoning avenue field.

By winning, the Moose can fortify its hold on second place and move within a game from the top post. The Elders, sporting a won five and lost six mark, advance within a half game from second place and two and a half games from the top by scoring a triumph.

Hunter, Irish Trackman, Quits

Holds All Notre Dame Records For Two-Mile Run; Erie Resident

(International News Service) NOTRE DAME, Ill., July 3.—Oliver Hunter III, who holds all Notre Dame records for the two-mile run, is hanging up his track shoes for the duration, possibly for good.

The good-natured Irish distance runner, who was graduated from Notre Dame in the May 2nd commencement, is enrolled in the Navy V-7 program and declared before leaving Notre Dame for his home in Erie, Pa., that he has a more important job to do now and he may not resume running after the war.

Rice Too Good
Hunter ran three superb races against the stocky Rice during the past indoor season, but the famous last lap spurt of Greg proved too much for Ollie. During one of these races, in the New York A. C. meet in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 20, the Erie, Pa., runner finished the two-miles in 9:01.1 to set a new Notre Dame record, and he still finished some 15 yards behind Rice. The former record was held by Rice, who ran a 9:05 two-mile in the Chicago Relays in 1939. Rice is now a chief specialist in the maritime service.

Ollie, who majored in foreign commerce in the Notre Dame College of Commerce, hopes to enter export shipping after the Axis are defeated.

Gunder Haegg, Swedish runner expects to remain in this country until September.

DODGERS BEATEN; NATS, BROWNS COP

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 3.—It could have been a satisfying revenge but probably Harry Gumbert was just playing his usual game of good ball. For it was Harry, you remember, who was traded upstairs from the Giants to St. Louis for Fiddler Bill McGee and yesterday gave his old teammates a 5 to 3 trouncing at the Polo Ground.

Gumbert had the New York club shut out, 5 to 0, at the end of the sixth. Then the stragglers staged a rally and tried to make the match look more like a contest for the 4,068 spectators.

With two gone in the seventh, Johnny Rucker got a clean hit off the Cards' pitching, slugging a two-bagger way down center. Until then only Dick Bartell had been able to hit Gumbert.

Hubbell Is Shelled
Pitted against Harry was the veteran hurler, Carl Hubbell, trying for his fourth victory. Hubbell gave the St. Louis club four runs and nine hits in six innings. It was his second defeat of the season.

Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates kept the National League guessing today after his slow ball won him his eleventh victory defeating the Phillies 2 to 1. At Chicago the Washington Senators beat the White Sox in an 11-inning game.

In St. Louis Everett Fagan a rookie hurler handed out five walks in the ninth yesterday and the St. Louis Browns accepted them to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 7. This moves the Browns into a tie for sixth place. The Detroit Tigers hammered the Boston Red Sox to a 8 to 2 defeat with veteran Tommy Bridges gaining his fifth pitching victory.

At Boston it was Claude Passeau's four-hit pitching that swept the Chicago Cubs into their fourth straight win in a four-game series, 7 to 1. It was the Braves eighth straight loss to the Cubs.

The hard-pressed New York Yankees lost more than a game yesterday when their abject slugger, King Kong Keller, was spiked and declared unable to play ball for an indefinite period. The Cleveland Indians completely swamped the Yankees 12 to 0, scoring all their runs in one inning.

The third New York club to lose yesterday was the Dodgers who were shut out for the second time this year, 8 to 0, by the Cincinnati Reds who got an even break on the four-game series.

Ten minutes of singing precede each calisthenic class at Fort Logan, Colo. A soldier who misses a class has to make it up on his day off. That would make any course tough for Joe Dogface.

LOUIS PROVES PERFECT DADDY

(International News Service) CHICAGO, July 3.—Sergeant Joe Louis, the fighter, demonstrated today that he also is a crooner of no mean ability.

His appreciative audience was Miss Jacqueline Louis, five months old, who rewarded his musical efforts with handclaps and gurgles.

The world's heavyweight champion, on a month's furlough from Fort Riley, Kas., was resuming his acquaintance with his daughter. He feeds her, bathes her, weighs her and, most to her delight sings to her. She is, he said, "Just 17 pounds, ringside."

'Sugar' Robinson No Longer Great

Sensational Welterweight Seems To Have Lost All His Finesse

By DAVID J. WALSH
(International News Service Staff Writer)

BOSTON, July 3.—Being a party with a morbid interest in other people's troubles, we went over to the Boston Garden to see just what life in the army might have done (A) For or (B) to Ray Robinson as a prize fighter.

Robinson was the rave of the eastern and mid-west rings only four months ago, being billed then, as now, "the uncrowned king of the welterweights," and the engagement here, we're privately assured, was to sharpen him up for a big money match back in a New York park with Henry Armstrong late this summer.

All we can say to that, after languidly watching Robinson grope his way through 10 pretty inept rounds with center Ralph Zanello, of Providence, is we hope they bring their own corner.

Where's His Stuff
The guy really can't fight good enough now to beat off a swarm of angry gnats, as was clearly established after a few minutes of supposed action with this Zanello, who's not only built like a hydrant, he even fights like one, being strictly stationary but very obdurate about the head and features.

Robinson was all through with any semblance of earnest endeavor after being belted a few in the body in the second round, although, even before that, it was quite evident he had gone off about 40 per cent from the guy he had been as a civilian no longer ago than March, 1943.

Penn State Grid Prospects Muddy

Navy V-12 Boys Key Figures In Nittany Lions' 1943 Grid Hopes

STATE COLLEGE, July 3.—Several hundred Navy V-12 boys, slated to arrive on the campus within the next few days, appeared today to hold the key to Penn State's athletic future for the duration.

While Bob Higgins, veteran Nittany Lion grid coach, adopted a "wait-and-see" policy, Bill Jeffrey, State's famed soccer mentor, kept his fingers crossed.

Until the summer semester begins next Monday, Higgins won't have the faintest idea of who among his former squad members are still wearing muffs and ready to do the molekings.

The Lions, who will be playing their 57th straight year of football, have anything but an easy schedule confronting them. Opening with a traditional rival, Bucknell University, on September 25, State, on successive week-end weeks, will play Georgia, Navy, Maryland, Michigan, State, Syracuse Temple and Pittsburgh.

Miss Patty Berg Rallies To Annex West Golf Crown

Behind For 24 Holes, Minnesota Birdies To Defeat Dot Kirby

CHAMP TO JOIN WOMEN'S RESERVES

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 3.—Patty Berg put another golf trophy on her crowded mantle today but planned to spend little time glorying in her new title as the nation's No. 1 comeback queen.

The same grit and courage that won her the Women's Western Open championship yesterday, after 18 months of enforced idleness, was earmarked by the owner for the war effort.

Shortly after the Minneapolis professional stepped off the course at Glen Oak Country Club with her second Western Open title in tow, she filed an application with the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps. She expects to take her physical examination in Minneapolis next Wednesday.

Match Is Grueling

Patty won the title over Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., 1 up in a gruelling 36-hole final. Never in a victory-straddled career did the Gopher state golfer have to fight harder to win.

She was behind for 24 holes, from the ninth to the 32nd. She trailed two down at the end of the first 18 and at the end of 30 holes, with only six left to play, Patty was three down.

It was the stretch and Patty came up fast. A par hole and two birdies pulled her up even. She matched the card again on the 34th.

The crucial 35th found her third shot 30 feet uphill from the pin. It was her chance to pull ahead. She did with a 30-foot putt for a birdie. A par on the last hole protected her lead.

Patty finished the match with a medal score of 79-78-157. Miss Kirby had a 77-82-159.

TENNESSEE U. DROPS FOOTBALL

(International News Service)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 3.—The University of Tennessee's Vols, long one of the gridiron leaders of the south and the nation, fell victim today to the war.

The school's athletic council Friday voted unanimously to discontinue the 1943 football schedule and to drop the sport for the duration.

Only two varsity players, Bob Dobbert, guard, and Bill Bevis, fullback, remained on the Vols' roster. Both are classified 4-F.

Hurler Bauers Now In Army

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 3.—Advised that pitcher Russ Bauers had been drafted and sent to Camp Grant, Ill., President William E. Bauer, manager of the Pirates today asked Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis to transfer the big hurler from the voluntarily retired list to baseball's national defense list. Bauers was the 19th Pirate to be added to the list. Before the draft caught up with him, Bauers had been pitching for Milwaukee.

Dean Park Wins In Handy Fashion

Dean Park Dodgers, last year's American Legion Junior league champs, continued their dizzy pace last evening by downing the Cozy Corners, 15-0, in a league game at Dean Park last night.

Campbell, for the Dodgers, limited his foes to four scattered hits, while his mates hammered out 15 bingles off Zeigler, Penella and H. Lubenbauer. Zeigler, Penella and H. Lubenbauer had a triple and a double. Bert Riley, new umpire assigned to officiate at this game, gave a very satisfactory performance.

In the only other game reported, the Penguins took over the Wolverines by a score of 15-3. The Wolverines started off with a two-run attack in the first inning, but were held in check after that by Jackson.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

In another section of today's News there'll be an account of a boxing show coupled with other interesting entertainment for the benefit of wounded soldiers at Deshon hospital, Butler, July 30, at Taggart stadium. The committee, of which L. B. Round is the general chairman, met last night at the Castle and arranged plans for the affair. The fistie phase of the show will be in charge of Tommy Leach and the writer, and because of the cause it is likely that the stadium will be packed. At the meeting last night business, industrial, labor, civic, professional and athletic representatives pledged wholehearted approval.

E. C. Moffatt today reported that Bert L. Riley, former Lawrence county league umpire, has signed to umpire in the Legion league. Since the request made by Moffatt through this column several days ago in which he requested the baseball players of yesteryear to give their services, several have done so. There is a place for more umpires. The Legion performed a meritorious service when it organized the league. Baseball is our national pastime. It makes clean bodies and minds and helps fit boys for the battle of life, therefore it is the duty of those who no longer can field a fast grounder or spear a fly ball to call the balls and strikes or umpire the bases. In doing so they play a role in helping to develop youth.

TWO INDIANS HIT BY AUTOS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, July 3.—Three ball players—two Indians and one Yankee—were nursing injuries today as the result of accidents on the playing field and the street.

The street casualties were the two Indians, Pitcher Joe Heving and Outfielder Hank Edwards, who were struck by an automobile as they stepped from the curb on the east side of the city. Heving, 38, suffered a brain concussion and was retained at a hospital, while Edwards, 24, was released after treatment.

The bruised Yankee was Charlie Keller, who was spiked by Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau in yesterday's game. Keller will be out of action for several days.

In addition to the masterpiece, Robinson stepped to the plate and banged out a homer. Vanessa was another leading sw

Wheeler Believes Draft Of Fathers Will Be Delayed

Senator Predicts Congressional Approval Of His Bill Holding Up Draft Move

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Sen.
Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., today predicted "overwhelming" congressional approval in September on his bill to prevent drafting of fathers as both house and senate military leaders promised to speed action.

Wheeler, impatient to rush legislation through, disclosed he will take the bill up in the senate "just as soon as congress reconvenes," after its summer recess which is expected to start next week.

At the same time, he scored the senate military affairs committee for failure to act more promptly on his bill which has been pending
since Feb. 25, 1943.

"That makes it impossible for me to get action before closing days of the session," Wheeler declared.

If passed, the bill will amend the selective service act to prevent the drafting of men married before Dec. 8, 1941, and who have a child or children under 18 years of age.

Regarding the Jan. 1, 1944, amendment tacked onto the bill by the senate committee, Wheeler said that "if on that date it is apparent there still is no need to draft fathers, I will then offer another amendment extending the time."

"I have no doubt but that the bill will pass the senate and that the house will then give it overwhelming approval," Wheeler said.

Charging that "every day a new statement comes out as to what is going to happen to fathers," Whe-ler said that a "great confusion exists at the present time" and criticized War Manpower Chief Paul McNutt for issuing a statement "in which he refused to give the nation's fathers, confused over their draft prospects, any information as to whether they'll be drafted or postponed indefinitely."

United Labor Club Buys Building At South And S.
Jefferson Streets

It was announced today by Jack Griffie, regional representative of the C.I.O., that the Fisher building located one block south of the public square on South Jefferson street.

The United Labor club was recently chartered by the courts of Lawrence county and consists of the various C.I.O. affiliates in New Castle. Joseph Waskin is the president of the club.

When full occupancy is secured
Mr. Griffie stated that the build-

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESSEALL

One of New Castle's short wave enthusiasts was going over the dial last night and picked up a broadcast reportedly originating in Germany... according to the way we received the information this German program concerned war prisoners and a girl (American) did the talking. She told of various members of our armed forces now imprisoned in Germany and among the ones she mentioned were Otville and Clarence Yahn from Ellwood City.

All are doing fine it was stated and if the relatives of the Yahn boys would like to verify this broadcast they may do so by calling Eddie Long at 2924-J.

Tomorrow is Sunday, July 4th... a day that will be spent at home or very near home... an ideal time to sit around and go to the afternoon and evening... Then Monday will be a holiday for some and some it will mean time and a half for overtime work. For those who don't work it would be a wonderful time to go to the country and work on a farm... The farmers really need your help... they need the help of men and boys who can lift... many young boys have volunteered for work but the kind of work that needs attention now is not their type... so you who have a strong back should think seriously about volunteering... you will be paid the regular farm labor rate... so why not go out some time this coming week... The Lawrence County Emergency Farm Labor Committee office is located in the Penn Power Building here in New Castle and the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce handles the affairs in Ellwood and vicinity and you may also register in Bessemer by contacting Rev. R. M. Howell... New Wilmington volunteers should see Howard Temple.

One day this week we mentioned Carpet Baggers... I didn't know there were so many of these things in town... they always show their true colors by not knowing enough to keep their comments to themselves... sometimes they would be passed up by keeping quiet but no... they fall up and give us hell for talking about them... and in that way we discovered some new C. B.'s and were very much surprised at their admitting it. Some like we Americans live.

BLACKOUT ON NEXT THURSDAY

Public To Be Instructed On Course Of Procedure In Coming Test

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 3.—The State Defense Council today
prepared for an “educational blackout” next Thursday night in which 45 radio stations will broadcast each detail as a means of instructing the public in what to do during an actual air raid.

The drill will begin at 10:10 p. m.
when the confidential “yellow”
warning will be transmitted to vital centers, executive director Ralph
C. Hutchison disclosed.

The public will receive the first blue warning at 10:30, he said, and radio stations will halt their regular programs and begin their descriptions to the public.

The red warning will come five minutes later, signifying that enemy planes are overhead and calling for total blackout and the stopping of all traffic.

The second blue signal, meaning that the planes have gone, will be heard at 10:40, followed by the all-clear at 10:44.

The public will be educated in every phase of the test by the radio stations as a public service, Hutchison said. He asserted that the blackout, authorized by the Third Service Command, would be the first of its kind in the state.

tural Extension Association, under the direction of County Agent C. H.
Waha, has received 40 boys from Pittsburgh, who were placed with about 30 farmers in different parts of the county, who had previously filed applications for assistance.
Not more than two boys were assigned to any one farmer, the majority receiving one.

The boys range in age from 15 to 17 years, and are from high schools in the Pittsburgh district.
They will be paid what the farmers decide they are worth.

German-Born
Resident Gets Prison Term

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 3.—Dr. Ferdinand A. Kertess, German-born naturalized citizen, chose two years in jail Friday to save himself or his former Nazi masters $16,000.

Convicted of having sent rare
metals needed for munitions to Germany, Dr. Kertess was given the alternatives of a four-year prison sentence and a fine of $20,000, to be paid immediately, or a six year sentence and a fine of $4,000. He chose the latter.

Kertess, financial backer of the American Fellowship Forum, Nazi propaganda agency, shipped $14,000 worth of rhodium, iridium and palladium to Germany through South American countries.

During his trial he was described by U. S. Attorney Corcoran as a man “too dangerous to allow on the streets during the war.”

LITTLE STORIES OF NEW CASTLE

Mayor Charles B. Mayne was no one's push over when he was a youngster, neither was a plug-ugly but he knew how to take care of himself and wasn't above fooling his parents now and then, so it is to no one's amazement that he “knew the angles” when small boys appear before him in junior court.

While dining with His Honor yesterday he recited how, in winter, he had to be in bed at 8 p. m., and in summer at 9 p. m. But, and there's the rub, He wasn't always obedient to the “in bed hour.” For instance, he wasn't the night he was with the gang that broke the window of Squire Leslie's home.

Someone threw gravel out one of the gravel proved a rock and the squire went after the parents. Now, Mayor Mayne's dad was a blacksmith, worked hard and went to bed early. He didn't know his three sons climbed through a window, slid down a pole after ostensibly having been in bed for an hour.

“Couldn't been any of my boys because they went to bed at nine o'clock,” said Blacksmith Mayne to the squire when he called with the complaint. “Well, if you say so, that's that,” the squire replied. Today His Honor asserted: “It was 11 o'clock the night we broke the window but dad never knew it.”

Defenses Of Fifty Miles Are Facing
Allied Invaders

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 3.—Allied invasion forces will have to battle through 50 miles of Axis defensive systems in Europe according to Brig.
Gen. B. C. Dunn.

Speaking in a radio address, General Dunn declared last night that army engineers will play the leading role in clearing the way for landing forces by destroying land mines.

In past actions of this war, Dunn said, army engineers, were often the first to land in a sea-borne invasion. He added:

“In New Guinea, the army engineers were the first American soldiers to engage in ground fighting in the Southwest Pacific. They were attacked while building an airfield too close for the Japs' comfort.”

“In North Africa, the army engineers landed at Oran, suffered heavy losses in the Kasserine Pass, but were the first into Bizerte with their rifles and mine detectors.”
